

Norman Rockwell's Christmas Wish

Charles Harris

13 December 2017

Norman Rockwell was the most beloved American illustrator of the 20th century. He was most at home portraying the ideal family Christmas, often with direct connections to Dickens and the English Yuletide Tradition. A bounty of Christmas posters, magazine covers, cards and even Norman Rockwell Christmas gifts will keep you entertained throughout. Your American-born lecturer shares his own experiences of the ideal American Christmas from sleigh rides and ice-skating in the woods to trimming the tree and wondering how Santa got down the chimney. Light and lively Christmas fair!

Charles Harris spent his career in advertising and was responsible for campaigns for many of the world's great brands.
